

President's Message

December 2023

Dear Fellow Residents,

Where has the year gone? We are certainly in the midst of our Holiday Season. To start December, we have our Decorating Party on December 2. Come on out and help us get the Clubhouse decorated for the Season. We will also be having our Holiday Decorating contest again this year. Decorations can go up anytime after November 27 and voting will close on December 15. Prizes for the winners will be awarded at our Holiday Party on December 16. Watch your tubes early in the month for your ballot. The Ballot box will be in the Clubhouse by the CCVRA box.

Next, we have Movie Night on December 9th with the screening of "National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation". Our Holiday Party will be on December 16. We will end the year with a pot luck dinner on December 31. There will be dancing to a playlist and maybe our line dancers will come out to entertain us. We will be ringing in the East Coast New Year. Look for flyers for all of these events in your tube shortly.

The 2024 board will be sworn in at the December 19 CCVRA Association meeting. Since all positions are filled and we have no other nominees, the new board has been elected by acclamation. Your 2024 board is made up of Sheila Wark (President), Kathy Love (Vice-President), Peggy Wegner (Secretary), Bruce Edmundston (Treasurer), Diane Daley (Member at Large), Bill Hines (Member at Large), Priscilla Mattson (Member at Large), Elizabeth Morrison (Member at Large) and Weizhi Sun (Member at Large). I am really looking forward to working with each of the board members over the coming year. I am sure it will be another productive year. Randy Dinga has retired from the board, after serving for several years. We wish him all the best in his future endeavors. We welcome Elizabeth Morrison to the board to fill the vacancy created by Randy Dinga's retirement.

I would like to take a moment to thank all of our board members for their hard work and dedication over the past year. Without your support, we would not be the strong, vibrant Association that we are today.

Happy Holidays!

National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation

This holiday season, Clark Griswold

[CHEVY CHASE] vows his clan will enjoy "the most fun-filled family Christmas ever." Before you can sing "Fa-la-la-lah," he decks the halls with howls of folly in the perennial favorite National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation. Seeing is believing. There are 25,000 lights on the roof. An exploding turkey on the dining room table. A SWAT team taking siege outside. A festive supporting cast [including BEVERLY D'ANGELO, RANDY QUAID, JULIA LOUIS-DREYFUS, JULIETTE LEWIS, WILLIAM HICKEY and more]. And a John Hughes script full of wit, heart and sheer goofiness. Yule love it!

Robert Falcon Scott

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Captain Robert Falcon Scott CVO (6 June 1868 - c. 29 March 1912) was a British Royal Navy officer and explorer who led two expeditions to the Antarctic regions: the Discovery expedition of 1901-04 and the Terra Nova expedition of 1910-13.

On the first expedition, he set a new southern record by marching to latitude 82°S and discovered the Antarctic Plateau, on which the South Pole is located. On the second venture, Scott led a party of five which reached the South Pole on 17 January 1912, less than five weeks after Amundsen's South Pole expedition. A planned meeting with supporting dog teams from the base camp failed, despite Scott's written instructions, and at a distance of 162 miles (261 km) from their base camp at Hut Point and approximately 12.5 miles (20.1 km) from the next depot, Scott and his companions died. When Scott and his party's bodies were discovered, they had in their possession the first Antarctic fossils discovered. [1] The fossils were determined to be from the Glossopteris tree and proved that Antarctica was once forested and joined to other continents.

Before his appointment to lead the Discovery expedition, Scott had a career as a Royal Navy officer. In 1899, he had a chance encounter with Sir Clements Markham, the president of the Royal Geographical Society, and learned of a planned Antarctic expedition, which he soon volunteered to lead.[3] His name became inseparably associated with the Antarctic, the field of work to which he remained committed during the final 12 years of his life.

Following the news of his death, Scott became a celebrated hero, a status reflected by memorials erected across the UK. However, in the last decades of the 20th century, questions were raised about his competence and character. Commentators in the 21st century have regarded Scott more positively after assessing the temperature drop below -40°C (-40°F) in March 1912, and after re-discovering Scott's written orders of October 1911, in which he had instructed the dog teams to meet and assist him on the return trip.

Rare Animals

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The Sangai is an endemic and endangered subspecies of Eld's deer found only in Manipur, India. It is also the state animal of Manipur. Its common English name is Manipur brow-antlered deer or Eld's deer and the scientific name is Rucervus eldii eldii. Its original natural habitat is the floating marshy grasslands of the Keibul Lamjao National Park, located in the southern parts of the Loktak Lake, which is the largest freshwater lake in South Asia.

Fauna of Azerbaijan or animal kingdom of Azerbaijan refers to the diversity of various types of animals, which inhabit and populate a defined ground or water area in Azerbaijan.

The first reports on the richness and diversity of animal life in Azerbaijan can be found in travel notes of Eastern travelers. Animal carvings on architectural monuments, ancient rocks and stones survived up to the present times. The first information on the animal kingdom of Azerbaijan was collected during the visits of naturalists to Azerbaijan in the 17th century. Unlike fauna, the concept of animal kingdom covers not only the types of animals, but also the number of individual species.

The Thylacine, also commonly known as the Tasmanian tiger or Tasmanian wolf, is an extinct carnivorous marsupial that was native to the Australian mainland and the islands of Tasmania and New Guinea. The thylacine died out on New Guinea and mainland Australia around 3,600-3,200 years ago, prior to the arrival of Europeans, possibly because of the introduction of the dingo, whose earliest record dates to around the same time, but which never reached Tasmania. Prior to European settlement, around 5,000 remained in the wild on Tasmania. Beginning in the nineteenth century, they were perceived as a threat to the livestock of farmers and bounty hunting was introduced. The last known of its species died in 1936 at Hobart Zoo in Tasmania. The thylacine is widespread in popular culture and is a cultural icon in Australia.

The thylacine was known as the Tasmanian tiger because it displayed dark transverse stripes that radiated from the top of its back, and it was known as the Tasmanian wolf because it had the general appearance of a medium-to-large-size canid. The name thylacine is derived from thylakos meaning “pouch” and ine meaning “pertaining to”, and refers to the marsupial pouch. Both sexes had a pouch. The females used theirs for rearing young and the males used theirs as a protective sheath, covering the external reproductive organs. It also had a stiff tail and could open its jaws to an unusual extent. The thylacine was an apex predator, though exactly how large its prey had been is disputed. Its closest living relatives are the other members of Dasyuromorphia including the Tasmanian devil.

Second MOU Compliance Committee October 4, 2023

The Sunnyvale MOU Compliance Committee met on October 4th for its semi-annual meeting. The Housing Department Manager was out on leave and the back up person didn't sent the notice about the meeting until the last minute, so attendance was very low. To date there have been no complaints about the MOU reported to any park representatives or the Housing Department.

Should you have any concerns about the application of the MOU please send them to smhpamail@yahoo.com. If we receive any by the 28th of February 2024 they can be addressed at the March 6, 2024 meeting.

This bill will now extend 3 years to pilot phase of the the Mobilehome Resident Law Program Program (MRLPP). In 2018, the state enacted the Mobilehome Residency Law Act (AB 3066), which amended the Health and Safety Code to establish the Mobilehome Residency Law Protection Program (MRLPP), a five-year pilot program, housed within the HCD to help coordinate the resolution of complaints from homeowners relating to the Mobilehome Residency Law (MRL).

AB 604 – Assemblymember Alex Lee
